CNET NOTICE 1514

Subj: NAVY INITIAL SKILLS TRAINING BY RATING

Encl: (1) Initial Skills Training by Rating for Fiscal Years 2003 and 2004
(2) Initial Skill Courses that are not included in 'A' School Plan Ratings
(3) Visio Diagrams

1. Purpose. To publish the subject listings of 'A' School courses available to students.

2. Information. Enclosures (1) and (2) provide the sequence of courses taken by students going to 'A' school. Students who are not going to 'A' schools after Basic Military Training (BMT) attend apprenticeship training following recruit training. Enclosure (3) contains Visio diagrams for pipelines and core/strand 'A' schools.

3. Initial Skill by Ratings

a. The initial skill rating is divided into a sequential listing of prerequisite courses. Each course is listed numerically and identified by a Course Identification Number (CIN). For the most part, a Course Data Processing Code (CDP) is unique to a rating and/or pipeline. To distinguish courses that have CDPs that are not unique to each rating and/or pipeline, a zero is placed one space to the right of the sequence number (i.e., 1.0). These courses may be listed either as the first or the last course in the pipeline. Common core courses, such as the Basic Enlisted Submarine School (BESS) course, are those in which students in several ratings may be in the same classroom but are enrolled in CDPs unique to their rating and/or pipeline.

b. In some cases, there is more than one sequence of courses for a rating and/or pipeline. These courses are distinguished by lower case letters to distinguish the different tracks. If some of the courses are common to both tracks, they will show no lower case letters. For example, in the AD rating, all students take the first course (C-601-2011) and then take one of three different tracks of one additional course (2a, 2b, or 2c).

c. The short title column provides additional descriptive information. The course length in calendar days from the Corporate Enterprise Training Activity Resource System (CETARS) is also provided.

d. An asterisk (*) preceding a rating or a numeral within a rating indicates USN Inactive Reserve (USNIRS) personnel are not eligible to attend.

e. Two asterisks () refer to a Visio diagram in enclosure (3).

4. Action

a. Training Agents shall review the enclosures and forward any changes in writing to Chief of Naval Education and Training (CNET) (N3), Ms. Rhoda Fountain, for inclusion in the next update.

b. All automatic data processing systems using CDPs in their database should make changes as provided in enclosure (1).

5. Cancellation Contingency. This notice is canceled upon issuance of the next CNETNOTE 1514 on this subject.
